Surgery decision delay 'irritating' says campaigner

By George Welch

CAMPAIGNERS fighting for their doctor's surgery have been left 'irritated' by delays caused by next month's snap general election.

Brenda Churchill, who is spearheading the campaign to save Witney's Deer Park medical centre, was hoping to have had a decision on its future from health secretary Jeremy Hunt by now.

But she claims restrictions on reporting in the lead up to an election – known as 'purdah' – have led to a wall of silence.

She said: "We are not happy. We have spent the last six months waiting for people to sort themselves out and do something and again we are left waiting. It's very irritating."

The future of Deer Park, which closed at the end of March, is back in the hands of the Secretary of State after an independent panel returned its report on what services should be included in and around the area.

The panel confirmed to the Deer Park Campaign Group (DPCG) – formally known as the Patient Participation Group – that the report was sent to Mr Hunt before the June 8 election was called.

As a result, a final decision on the Edington Square surgery has been postponed until after the ballot.

Deer Park campaigner Brenda Churchill

Mrs Churchill, a town councillor, said: "We know the panel sent their report on April 11 but because Theresa May has called the general election it has gone quiet now and it will have to wait until after the election.

"We didn't hear anything from Mr Hunt's team. We've been in touch with Robert Courts [Witney MP] and nothing's happened there either. It's all to do with purdah and it's all stopped."

But Cllr Churchill, who was sworn in as deputy mayor of Witney last week, suggested the general election might bring a fresh approach to Deer Park's closure. She said: "We don't know what's going to happen because it might be a different secretary.

"A new face might look at it better. Robert Courts has promised me that if he gets re-elected his first policy will be to go to the Secretary of State to say 'hurry up, get this sorted out'."

The DPCG said it expects an update within a week of the election result. Cllr Churchill added "it's important because they could say reopen it".

At the start of the month around 800 former Deer Park patients were yet to sign up to a new surgery and, according to Cllr Churchill, those people are "waiting to see what happens" as they want to stay at Deer Park.

Oxfordshire County Councillor Liz Leffman, who is also standing as a Liberal Democrat candidate in Witney, shares Cllr Churchill's frustrations.

She said: "It is made worse by the fact that Deer Park patients are being advised to go to surgeries scattered over a wide geographical area including Carterton, Wychwood surgery in Shipton and even Charlbury.

"By its own admission the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group has had great difficulty recruiting GPs across Oxfordshire. They are seven GPs short in Witney alone."

Farm dangers highlighted

MORE than 70 students spent a day learning about farm safety and how to avoid 'life-changing' mistakes.

The charity Yellow Wellies performed practical demonstrations on their visit to the Abingdon & Witney College, covering everyday hazards that farmers and workers face.

Students who are working on their agriculture qualifications watched how to avoid scenarios such as live-stock movement and crushing in a stockyard, a fall from a ladder, unsafe practice with a chainsaw and limb entrapment in a tractor.

Anthony Davis, an 18-year-old from Witney who is studying on the level 2 agriculture course, said: "I found each of the four safety sessions very informative and interesting, as it highlighted how a split-second mistake can be life-changing."

Emergency care 'worse than England's average'

By Eva Astreinidou

A QUALITY report on the John Radcliffe found the urgent and emergency services at the hospital need improvement after the unit performed 'worse than the England average' during random inspections.

The report by the Care Quality Commission released last Tuesday is based on unannounced inspections in October 2016, as well as national care standards and information given from patients and the public.

The body that monitors and regulates health services rated the hospital's surgery services as 'good' but said several improvements need to be made to its emergency department.

In a report signed off by chief inspector of hospitals Professor Sir Mike Richards, the commission concluded that the emergency department at the hospital had poorer average time of assessing adults and children than the England average.

It added: "Patients arriving via ambulance did not consistently receive an assessment within 15 minutes of arrival.

"The department performed significantly worse than the England average on the A&E four-hour waiting time target, although the percentage of patients waiting four to 12 hours from decision to admit to admission was better than the national average."

The layout of the department impacted the flow of patients and the resuscitation area contained four bays that were often used to accommodate more than four patients.

"In cases when capacity did not meet demand [it] was used to accommodate up to six patients on trolleys."

The report added that training of staff varied and was not "in line with the trust's target in some areas" and that "not all staff were up to date with the required level of safeguarding training".

It read: "In all areas, patients and relatives were positive about the caring attitude of staff, their kindness and their compassion. However, in the ED we observed occasions when patient privacy and confidentiality was not maintained."

The report concluded that overall, "staff showed good understanding and made reasonable adjustments to meet patients' individual needs".

Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust's chief executive, Dr Bruno Holthof, said: "The positive overall tone of the report is extremely encouraging and our staff should be rightfully proud of the many improvements the inspection found, particularly given ongoing heavy demand on our services.

"The trust the board and I also recognise there have been great improvements in the range of services offered as part of urgent and emergency care.

"The CQC has identified aspects of care in which the trust must improve and we are already in the process of producing an action plan to address these areas."

'Protecting patient data is our top priority'

OXFORDSHIRE'S hospitals have reassured patients that protecting their information is a top priority in the wake of last week's cyber attack.

The county's health services were unaffected by the global attack which saw 47 NHS trusts in England fall victim to the hackers.

On Friday, the Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust said: "We are aware of the cyber threat which has affected some NHS Trusts and we are taking the appropriate steps to address the situation."

The Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust said they continue to be vigilant and added: "Protecting patient information is a top priority for us."

The hackers used ransomware to encrypt files and hold the users to hostage demanding $300 to release the files back to them.

Dr Faye Mitchell, who teaches cyber security at Oxford Brookes University, said a patch to protect against the software used has been available since April.

She said: "Any organisation should have access to this level of protection against malware."

She said it is common knowledge in the IT industry that a percentage of NHS trusts have Windows XP in place, a piece of software that was not extended past 2014, and if automatic updates are disabled on computers, crucial software updates can be missed.

Progress update on patient care

RESIDENTS are invited to attend Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group's (OCCG) board meeting for an update on the progress it is making to improve patient care.

The OCCG's chief executive David Smith will lead the meeting and a report on its finances will be delivered.

The meeting will take place between 9am and 12.45pm on Thursday, May 25, at Jubilee House, Oxford Business Park.

The public can submit questions at least 48 hours beforehand to oxon.gpc@nhs.net

Agenda items will be available on the OCCG website from a week prior to the meeting at: tinyurl.com/l4bkoo8

A SCHOOLGIRL wowed judges with her creativity to progress to the final of the UK's biggest story writing competition for children.

Cranford House pupil Ellen Roberts's story, titled Secrets in the Rainforest, made the top 25 of the age 10-13 category of the BBC's 500 Words competition.

The Year 6 pupil fought off more than 132,000 entries from across the UK to make next month's final.

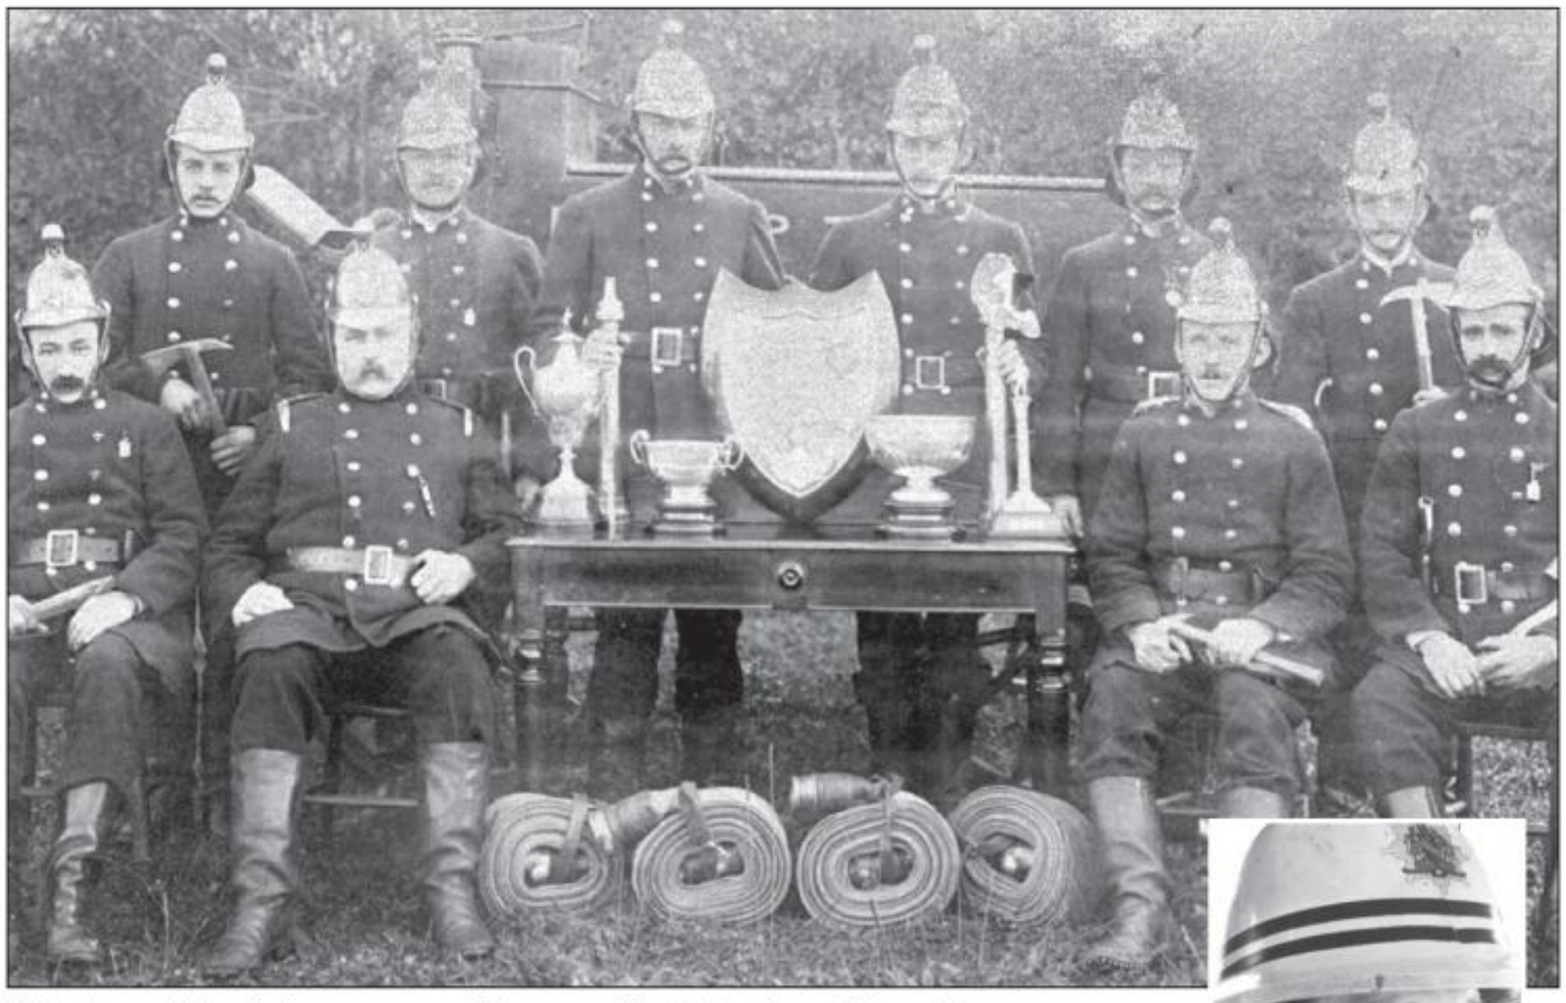
Ellen can now look forward to the awards ceremony at the Tower of London, where she will rub shoulders with the likes of Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall, DJ Chris Evans and former One Direction star Niall Horan.

Six other pupils from the school near Wallingford also progressed through the first round to the final 4,000.

The final on June 16 will be broadcast on the BBC Radio 2 Chris Evans Breakfast Show.

Tom's memories flood back at celebration of fire station

By Eva Astreinidou



Right, Tom, and the winning team at one of the competitions held at Crystal Palace, above

AN exhibition showcasing the proud heritage of a fire station dating back to 1813 will be held in Bampton.

The display at the Vesey Room at Bampton library, which shares space used to film the popular TV show Downton Abbey, will run until June 29.

It focuses on the work of Tom Papworth who has taken a keen interest in the history of the station having worked there as a fireman since 1963.

Tom, who is now 72, was also in charge from 1977 until 1996.

He said: "I thoroughly enjoyed my experiences at the fire station.

"I find its history extremely interesting and I am quite proud of what we achieved."

He recalled how when he first started, the team did not have radios or breathing apparatus.

Now, he said, fire engines have come a long way and are equipped for firefighters to react as emergency responders.

He said: "There is no comparison between the way we used to work back then to the way they work now."

Bampton fire brigade won four national competitions at Crystal Palace in 1904, 1905, 1912 and 1921, as the fastest team for drills.

The free exhibition will display parish council records, photographs, press cuttings, actual fire appliances and also Tom's personal memories.

The oldest item is a receipt for the purchase of a new pump from a local engineer in 1813.

Tom is part of the Bampton archive society, founded in 2002 to record and save the social history of the village.

The archive contains almost 6,000 items relating to life in the village past and present.

Road closure

WITNEY: Organisers of the Witney food festival are warning of a road closure due to the event.

The road on the south side of Church Green that runs directly across the front of St Mary's Church will be closed from 6pm on Friday until 6pm on Saturday.

The alternative route for traffic is via the Market Square.

The 5th Witney festival of food and drink will host a variety of tasty food stalls and local delicacies from 9.30am to 5pm on Saturday.

The festival champion this year is Bruce Young of Shakenoak Mustard, who creates condiments at Witney's Shaken Oak Farm.

He will be opening the festival at 10am.

Tickets on the day are £3 for adults with free entry for children 12 years and under.

Finstock festival

FINSTOCK: The line-up for this year's Finstock Festival has been announced.

Local indie band Quartermelon will open the event on June 30 along with Highway 61, a high-energy band.

Headlining on July 1 are the Della Grants, a four-piece band that merges blues, rock and R&B. They will be supported by the Wood Green School Big Band and Alex Chapman.

There is free entry on June 30 and tickets are £8 (£10 on the door) for the second night.

Park rapist gets life for the second time

A 'PREDATORY' man who raped a woman in a park has been sent to prison for life – for a second time.

Mark Pearton, 44, attacked the woman as she was walking along Harcourt Hill in Botley on January 10. He then took his victim to Raleigh Park, where he raped her.

It was revealed he had previously been given a life sentence in 1999 for rape and was released in 2015.

Pearton pleaded guilty to rape, sexual assault by penetration and possession of a bladed or sharply pointed article on February 17 at Oxford Crown Court.

Pearton, of Cavendish Place, Eastbourne, East Sussex, was sentenced to life at Oxford Crown Court on Thursday, May 11.

Before the sentencing, senior investigating officer in the case, detective inspector Jim Holmes, said offenders are closely monitored after their release by probation officers until there are signs the risk of harm is reduced.

He added: "Some offenders are rehabilitated without committing another offence at all.

"[But] when you're dealing with an offender who is a manipulative individual who knows how the system works, they know how to show that the risk [in them reoffending] is reduced. I think Pearton is one of those people."

Rapist Mark Pearton got life

Detective Inspector Jim Holmes

Officers were at the scene within 15 minutes after the victim alerted a member of the public who then called the police. They used a sex offence kit with swabs to be able to profile the DNA. Pearton was arrested and charged on January 13. DI Holmes said surrounding circumstances and CCTV evidence had to be looked at closely to determine who the offender was.

He said: "This was an unusual offence because of its random nature. Usually there is something linking the offender to the victim or the location of the offence, but Pearton did not know the victim and had no ties to Oxford.

"Our intelligence team discovered that Pearton was living in Brighton so we worked with Sussex Police to arrest him and search his premises.

"During the search, Pearton was found to be in possession of pornography replicating scenes of rape, which was an aggravating feature in this case.

"Following his arrest, Pearton said the sexual activity with the victim was consensual and made no comment to most of the questions posed to him during police interviews."

Royals in the market for some cheese and chat

PRINCE Charles and The Duchess of Cornwall took in some of the sights and sounds of Oxford's Covered Market on Tuesday.

The pair visited local businesses and shops, tasting some of the food on offer and enjoying a tour of the eclectic market on a visit to the city.

Camilla also visited cancer support charity Maggie's at the Churchill Hospital, continuing her work for the cause she became president of in 2008.

During the visit she met people with cancer who visit the centre, staff, volunteers, NHS colleagues from the Churchill Hospital and the centre's architect, Chris Wilkinson.

She also observed a Talking Heads session, which supports those with hair loss, and a yoga class before touring of the building.

Laura Lee, chief executive of Maggie's said: "It's always an honour to welcome Her Royal Highness The Duchess of Cornwall to one of our centres.

"We're incredibly grateful for Her Royal Highness's continued support of Maggie's, her passion and commitment makes a real difference to those who visit and work in our Centres."

Viking treasure's a pleasure to behold

AN age-old Viking hoard proved a feast for the eyes at a roadshow over the weekend.

People from all over Oxfordshire got a chance to see the treasure close up at Bicester Library on Saturday.

Selected pieces from a Viking find at Watlington in 2015 were on show thanks to a collaboration between the Ashmolean Museum and Oxfordshire Museum Service.

The free roadshow events include talks, displays of items from the hoard, and family-friendly craft activities at locations including Bicester, Faringdon and, of course, Watlington.

Gareth Williams, curator of early and medieval coinage and Viking collections at the British Museum, was also there to give a public lecture.

With more than 700 people contributing to an appeal, the Ashmolean Museum raised £1.35 million to purchase the hoard for the nation in 2015.

A Heritage Lottery Fund grant of £1.1 million was used to fund events like the roadshow.

Carol Anderson, Oxfordshire County Council's museums service manager, said: "We are delighted to be able to work with colleagues from the Ashmolean to take the hoard out into communities across Oxfordshire.

"This enables as many people as possible to see this remarkable find and learn more about its discovery and significance for the history of England."

The Watlington Viking hoard comprises about 200 coins, seven items of jewellery and 15 ingots (bars of silver).

Although the find was not particularly large, it is hugely significant as it contains coins of Alfred the Great, King of Wessex, and Ceolwulf of Mercia, all of whom were important figures in Anglo-Saxon Viking history.

The hoard also contains rare 'Two Emperors' pennies, showing the two kings seated side-by-side, suggesting an alliance between the kingdoms of Wessex and Mercia.

This challenges other accounts in written sources that suggested that Ceolwulf was just a 'puppet' of the Vikings.

BMW pension strikes on hold for ballot

STRIKES at the Oxford MINI Plant have been suspended while union members consider an offer from BMW bosses over a pensions dispute.

Two 24-hour strikes at the Cowley plant scheduled for today and Sunday have been suspended while workers at five BMW car plants are balloted on the offer.

Workers at the Cowley plant have walked out three times in April and May as part of the dispute.

The latest strike on Tuesday meant production at the MINI Plant was halted again over BMW's plans to scrap the final salary pension scheme workers are entitled to.

Unite national officer for BMW Fred Hanna said: "While Unite is not recommending the offer, as it will have different outcomes for different people and their pensions, members should be proud that by standing together they have forced BMW into making this offer.

"Without the action that Unite members have taken and the resolve they have shown in recent weeks, BMW would not have made this latest offer."

Unite members will be consulted and be able to have their say at workplace meetings 'over the coming days', Unite said.

It is expected the ballot on the offer will run from May 24 to June 9.

BMW were contacted for comment.

Prime Minister's rough ride on campaign trail

By George Welch

Theresa May had an easier time at Tech Pixies

VOTERS challenged Prime Minister Theresa May as she campaigned in Abingdon – the same day she announced a policy described as the "greatest extension of rights and protections for employees by any Conservative government".

Mrs May joined Oxford West and Abingdon candidate Nicola Blackwood at Abingdon market on Monday, when the pair were confronted by an angry voter over disability cuts.

Cathy Mohan, who lives in the town and has mental health problems, told the Prime Minister: "I want you to do something for us…I'm talking about everybody that's got mental health and who's got learning disabilities.

"I want them not to have their money taken away from them and being crippled. The fat cats keep the money and us lot get nothing.

"I want my disability living allowance back. I can't live on £100 a month."

Mrs May who is standing in Maidenhead replied by saying her party has "a lot of plans for people with mental health".

Ms Blackwood said: "At Abingdon market we met shop owners and stall holders many of whom were old friends… [including] Cathy, who made national news with her clear case, based on lived experience, for better care for those with mental health problems and learning disabilities.

"This is what elections are all about, hearing directly from local residents about the issues that matter most to them."

Liberal Democrat candidate for Oxford West and Abingdon, Layla Moran, said the confrontation proves Mrs May "just doesn't care about people like Cathy".

Mrs May's battle bus clocked up more miles when the Prime Minister visited Oxford Business Park, in Cowley, to meet staff and bosses from technology firms before she spoke to Abingdon residents.

She used her visit to Oxford to announce a 'new deal for workers', which will be part of the Conservative manifesto and would be offered should her party be re-elected.

The new deal would include protections for people in the 'gig economy', a statutory right to leave for those who need to care for a family member and a commitment to further increases in the national living wage.

She said: "Our plans will be the greatest expansion in workers' rights by any Conservative government in history."

'Ruthless' predator jailed for sex crimes

A 'RUTHLESS' predator who targeted and sexually assaulted vulnerable elderly women has been sentenced to eight years behind bars.

Richard Saillet, 64, from Rugby, Warwickshire, pleaded guilty to inappropriately touching women in Oxfordshire and other areas of the country.

One of the attacks took place in Botley on April 27 last year.

Saillet sexually assaulted other women last year in Halesowen, west Midlands, on March 8; Bromsgrove, Worcestershire, on May 3; and Greens Norton, Northamptonshire, on May 19.

Another offence in Hethe, north Oxfordshire, on August 12, 2015 was laid on file.

On each occasion Saillet trespassed on to the properties of elderly women in order to sexually assault them.

Jeremy Taylor, senior crown prosecutor for Thames and Chiltern Crown Prosecution Service, said Saillet attended the Botley home claiming he wanted to carry out a survey.

"He said he needed to use the bathroom and when she found him in her son's bedroom he forced her on to the bed.

"Saillet targeted [all] the women due to their vulnerability, and planned his attacks. He is clearly a calculated, ruthless and dangerous man."

Sexual predator Richard Saillet

Saillet, who was identified through phone billing enquiries and forensic examinations, initially denied any wrongdoing but pleaded guilty to four counts of sexual assault at Oxford Crown Court on March 24 due to the strength of evidence against him.

Investigating officer detective constable Richard Lewis of Force CID, said: "This was a very disturbing series of sexual assaults where Richard Saillet has trespassed into the victims' homes to carry out the offences.

"Saillet targeted his victims, who were all vulnerable, elderly women living on their own."

Saillet was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on Thursday last week. At a previous hearing on March 24 at the same court he pleaded guilty to four counts of sexual assault on a female over 16.

Finn the fighter provides the inspiration for kayak quest

By George Welch

A MAN will paddle through Oxford in a kayak as part of a 150-mile fundraising mission after losing his baby to a heart condition.

Adam Castleton, 29, from Wallingford, wants to raise £10,000 as a tribute to his son Finn and fund research for the British Heart Foundation.

Finn was born in June 2015 but died less than six months later.

But thanks to advanced medical research Mr Castleton and his wife Amalie were able to spend time with him being a normal family.

Mr Castleton, who will complete the challenge with a group of friends, said: "Finn's life was tragically short.

"But it is thanks to pioneering medical research that we got to spend time with him, getting to know him, and creating everlasting memories.

"Finn was a fighter and he gave me the inspiration to do anything I can to help find better treatment for what takes so many innocent young lives."

Two years on from his son's birth Mr Castleton and nine friends will start their journey from Lechlade, Gloucestershire, on June 17 – Finn's birthday – and arrive at London's Tower Bridge five days later.

The 10 kayak novices will paddle down the River Thames from the Summertown area, arriving in Oxford at the end of day one.

The group plans to cover 30 miles a day, stopping at six towns and navigating 45 locks.

Adam Castleton is kayaking the length of the River Thames in memory of his son Finn

Mr Castleton, who now has a seven-month-old son called Jesse Finn, said: "Every day, 12 babies are diagnosed with a congenital heart defect. Their families will live with an uncertain future.

"Nobody should have to send their newborn for heart surgery, list their child for transplant, or withdraw life support."

Poppy Hanbury, BHF fundraising manager for Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire, said: "We're incredibly grateful to Adam for taking on this incredible challenge."

So, far £3,657 has been raised. To donate, visit kayakthethames.com

Thousands of scouts coming to Blenheim

MORE than 3,000 scouts from all across the world are expected to camp out together and create 'lasting memories' during a special event that takes place every four years.

OxonJam, which promotes scouting worldwide, brings together different nationalities and groups of scouts from the age of six upwards for a weekend full of activities.

Members of the Scout Association will be camping in tents in the grounds of the world heritage site Blenheim Palace for three nights over the May bank holiday weekend.

The event, run by more than 1,000 adult scouting volunteers, has been planned for the past two years and includes activities such as abseiling and zorbing.

OxonJam will also be working alongside charities such as WaterAid, Oxfam and the Guide Dogs for The Blind Association to encourage the young participants to engage with charitable causes.

Eleven-year-old Freddie Janks, a Scout from Wantage, said: "I have been looking forward to OxonJam for ages.

"I can't wait to try out a load of new exciting activities and I'm really looking forward to meeting up and making friends with other scouts from other countries and learning about how they live."

Support the Oxfordshire Guardian's charity of the year - Play2Give

Getting rough for first fundraising challenge

OXFORD Children's Hospital will benefit from the fundraising efforts of a team of public relations staff willing to tackle 10km of punishing obstacles for ill children.

Chesterton-based PR firm CubanEight announced the hospital as its chosen charity for 2017 last month – and they kicked off their campaign with the challenge of a Rough Runner event in Chipping Norton on Saturday.

Rough Runner is an obstacle course combining distance running with a variety of obstacles along the way.

CubanEight said it would carry out a variety of activities and initiatives to raise money and awareness for the charity throughout the year.

Sian Gaskell, managing director and founder, said: "This is the first time we've officially selected a charity of the year at CubanEight.

"We've done lots for different charities in the past, but this year the team wanted to commit to giving dedicated support year-round.

"Some of our team have had personal experiences with the hospital, having people close to them benefitting from its services. It's such a vital place for so many people – we are now more motivated than ever to raise as much as we can."

All of the funds raised will go towards Oxford Children's Hospital's 10th anniversary appeal, which is aiming to raise £2million during 2017.

The team has raised more than £1,000 so far. To donate, visit justgiving.com/fundraising/CubanEight.

Help families to stay with sick children at hospital

By George Welch

FAMILIES staying in accommodation at a specialist children's hospital in Oxford are in 'urgent' need of daily essential items.

Ronald McDonald House, based at Oxford Children's Hospital, is a 'home from home' for parents and families while their ill children receive treatment.

Our charity of the year, fundraising group Play2Give (P2G), is leading the charge to appeal to Oxfordshire residents to help with its latest appeal.

Staff at Ronald McDonald House have drawn up a list of required items – known as the 'Amazon wish list' – and people can donate items online.

Among other things, crockery, bedding and washing materials are all needed as soon as possible.

Ronald McDonald House currently only has 17 bedrooms and demand always far exceeds the amount of families they can help.

Fundraiser Caroline Sinclair said: "The wish list is a hassle-free way of donating the items the charity needs most urgently. Many people don't realise we exist as a charity until they actually need to use us."

An artist's impression of the proposed new accommodation

Planning permission was secured for a new purpose-built, three-storey, 62-bedroomed house in 2016, which, once opened, will be situated on the John Radcliffe site near the women's centre.

The cost is likely to be in the region of £11m but building will not begin until the money has been raised.

The charity is currently running a 10th birthday campaign to raise £2m this year – £1m of which will be for equipment for the hospital and £1m towards the new house.

The charity is currently unable to say when it will open.

For 28-year-old Andy Baker, founder of P2G, neither the Children's Hospital or Ronald McDonald House existed when he required treatment in his childhood.

He said: "When I was treated [in 2001] and spent time on the old children's wards spread between (at the time) the RI and the JR, no such 'fantastic family accommodation' existed.

"However, the new purpose built facility to come will be even better, brighter and more vibrant.

"So in 2017 and continuing 2018, we hope we can just do our 'little bit' for the house, and through receiving donations from their 'wish list' of the essential items they need."

Businesses honoured at awards

BUSINESSES from across Cherwell have been recognised at the sixth annual awards ceremony.

Among the winners was a gourmet cafe, a funeral director and a charity that supports people with cancer.

The Cherwell Business Awards took place earlier this month at Heythrop Park, with finalists competing across 11 categories.

Edd Frost and Daughters funeral directors took the Cherwell business of the year award, while the Hummingbird Centre, which supports people in Bicester and surrounding villages who are battling cancer, topped the charity and community category.

Bicester cafe Savoir Fare scooped the micro business award and Social Sidekick took best apprenticeship.

Cllr Lynn Pratt, Cherwell's lead member for estates and the economy, said: "Cherwell District Council is extremely proud to have been headline sponsor for these important awards.

"They are a fantastic way of celebrating the innovation, commitment and talent that makes north Oxfordshire's such a thriving and dynamic economy – and encouraging more of it!

"The awards ceremony was a great evening of networking and will have helped forge new links throughout the business community, which we hope will fuel further innovation and entrepreneurial endeavour over the coming years."

Other winners included Bicester womenswear store Options Boutique, which took the Retail Award, Employer of the Year went to Hawkins Group of Companies and the Innovation and Creativity award went to Ethos Technology Ltd.

Chris Maynard, of Castle Minibus, picked up Business Person of the Year.

A raffle raised £1,500 for The Hummingbird Centre.

Mayor Tom Wyse and deputy Linda Emery with the winning flag design by Hazel Mann

Winning flag design set to fly

THE winner of a competition to design a new flag for Thame has been announced.

Hazel Mann's creation was chosen by councillors for its modern look, which reflected the town council's website.

Ms Mann said the wavy lines represented the natural elements that surround Thame – the blue line was the River Thame, the white line the Phoenix Trail and the green line the countryside. Ms Mann said she was "excited and proud" to win the design competition.

The new flag will be flown outside the Town Hall throughout the year, except when the flagpole is being used to mark special and significant occasions.

A total of 33 designs were submitted from entrants across the town. The only requirement was that the design incorporated the town council branding colours and town logo or crest.

The winning design was chosen at the annual town meeting from a shortlist of four.

In a statement the council said it was "really impressed with all of the designs" and thanked everyone who entered.

The flag will be made in the next few weeks.

'Moving' visit from Holocaust survivor

A HOLOCAUST survivor paid a 'moving' visit to students with autism to share his story and help them make a 'positive difference' in their own lives.

Students from LVS Oxford welcomed Rudi Oppenheimer, who survived horrific conditions and lost his parents.

The visit last Tuesday was organised with the Holocaust Educational Trust (HET), to educate students who are studying for their history GCSE.

While many students with autism find it difficult to focus for long periods, the entire school fell silent as the 86-year-old retold his experience.

Mr Oppenheimer said: "The main lesson I am hoping they take from it is that people should speak up for themselves when they see injustice being done. If people would have spoken up at that time, things could have been different."

Rudi and his family fled Germany for Holland in 1936 to avoid persecution, only to be captured two years later.

He and his brother, Paul, were liberated in April the same year.

The visit at LVS was organised as part of a wider outreach programme.

Head of school at LVS Oxford, Louisa Allison-Bergin, said: "We want to ensure our young people are educated about important topics so this visit was one which they were all able to get a lot of value from.

"The visit was especially beneficial for our GCSE history students who are studying Germany and World War II for whom Rudi's vivid recollections will provide lots to think about and take in."

Restaurant owner fined after diners get food poisoning from 'risky' liver

By Eva Astreinidou

A RESTAURANT owner was ordered to pay over £9,800 for serving undercooked calves' liver.

The director of The Golden Ball in Lower Assendon, Henley-on-Thames, appeared at Oxford Magistrates' Court where he pleaded guilty to two food safety charges on May 11.

Stephen Luscombe admitted serving high risk food on the premises and failing to implement and maintain legally required food safety procedures.

As a result of his early plea, the deputy district judge gave Mr Luscombe a reduced fine of £4,434 – but he was also ordered to pay £5,284 costs and a victim surcharge of £120.

Magistrates heard how, in September 2015, South Oxfordshire District Council was asked to investigate after a member of the public was confirmed to have campylobacter food poisoning.

The individual had eaten at The Golden Ball two weeks earlier.

A fellow diner also had food poisoning, while several others had experienced symptoms.

Environmental health officers carried out an immediate unannounced inspection and found that the diners had been offered a set menu including calves' liver for the main course.

Liver is a well-known potential source of campylobacter food poisoning, but the restaurant had no written protocol to ensure that high-risk items were cooked properly.

It had also failed to complete required monitoring records for almost three months, failing to meet its legal requirements for food safety.

After the unannounced inspection, the restaurant received a food hygiene rating of one.

Following significant work to improve its food safety operations and staff training, the restaurant has since been re-inspected and now has a rating of five.

Diane Moore, food and safety manager at South Oxfordshire District Council, said: "This case demonstrates how important it is for businesses to follow food hygiene rules and make sure food is safe to eat.

"Liver is a well-publicised potential source of campylobacter food poisoning, which in some cases can be fatal.

"It is essential that high risk products like this are thoroughly cooked.

"In this case, the liver had been cooked at too low a temperature with no regard given to very clear warnings from the Food Standards Agency."

Left, rescuers get out the pole to free the trapped deer, and right, the deer can just be made out above the rubbish

Oh deer! Trapped animal rescued from narrow gap

By Eva Astreinidou

A DEER was rescued from a tight squeeze after being found trapped between two walls in Abingdon.

Firefighters and the RSPCA leapt into action after a member of the public spotted the animal wedged in the small gap in Draymans Walk surrounded by discarded rubbish.

RSPCA animal collection officer Grace Mead was able to free the deer from a 30cm-wide gap between a two-metre high brick wall and a brick-built bin store.

A dog catcher pole was used to help the deer out before it released itself and ran off.

Ms Mead said: "The deer was trapped in a very small space between two brick walls next to a bin store.

"We initially didn't think he was able to move or turn around to set himself free and thought we'd have to remove the breeze blocks. But thankfully we were able to free him uninjured by coaxing him back out.

"It was great to see him run off freely back to where he belongs.

"We've since spoken to the council who intend to block up the gap to stop any other animals getting trapped and to stop the fire risk from the rubbish building up."

Incident commander Neil Priestley said: "The deer had been stuck all morning and had become very tired and distressed.

"We attended a wide range of animal rescues and are used to working closely with the RSPCA.

"On this occasion we used equipment normally used for water rescues and rescues from height to free the animal.

"I have no idea how the animal got in there, but it was a great outcome to see the deer released without injury."

Help change a young person's life - sign up to be a foster carer

OXFORDSHIRE residents are being asked to consider transforming their lives – and those of vulnerable children – by becoming a foster carer.

Oxfordshire County Council is appealing for more people to come forward during national Foster Care Fortnight .

The council currently has more than 230 registered foster carers looking after children in the county but carers are needed to home more children.

Fostering service manager Teresa Rogers said: "The need to recruit new foster carers is an ongoing challenge for all councils.

"In Oxfordshire we have seen the number of looked-after children increasing in recent years and the majority of these will, at some point, need a foster home.

"Although we are able to provide a foster placement for every child who needs one, like many other councils we often have to call on external agency providers – sometimes based outside the county.

"Wherever possible we want our children to stay close to family, friends and local schools as this helps provide the stability that they need."

At the end of March 2016 there were 592 children in care across Oxfordshire and at the end of March this year there were 672.

There are currently 470 Oxfordshire children in a foster placement, 140 of which have been homed by external agencies.

Foster carer Shirley Gelleburn looks after two children with additional needs in Banbury.

She said: "I never saw myself as a carer of anyone with additional needs. I had always seen parents of these children as superhuman with special skills and thought I could never do that, to be that good.

"I thought I wasn't skilled enough but no one starts off with those skills, they are skills that grow from being an advocate for your child.

"It turns out the only skills I needed to have to care for a child with additional needs was patience, empathy and the drive to do my best. You don't have to be superhuman, you just have to want to make a difference."

Councillors Tom Wyse and Linda Emery

Banbury's new mayor Councillor Colin Clarke

Mayors pledge to make difference

NEW mayors have been welcomed in communities across Oxfordshire.

Banbury's new mayor Cllr Colin Clarke says he will put his "heart and soul" into helping the town's charities and good causes.

Cllr Clarke began his second term as town mayor at an inauguration ceremony at the town hall last week when he took over from outgoing mayor Cllr Gordon Ross.

Cllr Clarke was previously mayor in 2010/2011.

He said: "I didn't expect to get a second year in office but the opportunity has come along and I am very happy to accept the honour.

"We all know how much good work – often unrewarded – goes on within our many charitable organisations and community groups and I will make every effort to support these good causes."

The new deputy mayor is Cllr Shaida Hussain. She said: "This will be a new experience for me. I will do my best to uphold the office in a proper manner – and I'm looking forward to the year ahead."

At Thame's annual town meeting, Cllr Tom Wyse was elected as mayor. He said: "My aim is to try to bring some new ideas to the town."

Cllr Linda Emery was elected as deputy mayor following her year as Mayor of Thame, which she described as a 'life changing experience'.

Thame's mayor has yet to announce which charities he will support in the coming year.

New MD at council's self-build operation

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW managing director has been appointed to run the council-operated Graven Hill self build development.

Karen Curtin will take on the role from July. The former Cherwell District Council finance chief has stood in twice before.

Former MoD land at Graven Hill will become the UK's largest self-build development with 1,900 homes, a pub, schools and shops as well as a million square feet of commercial space.

The announcement comes as the site's 'Plot Shop', which is based in Pioneer Square, opened its doors.

Miss Curtin, currently commercial director for Cherwell district and South Northamptonshire councils, said: "I am delighted to be joining the company at such an exciting time in its development.

"On the housing side there is a great deal of interest, not only in the plot sales but also in the brand new range of homes that can be customised.

"Later this year it is also expected that we will open the showhomes and the first residents will move on to the development.

"From a business perspective, I am encouraged to see that there has been a significant amount of interest in the commercial land.

"I have always been proud of the vision held by Cherwell District Council, which was to give people a real opportunity to create quality homes that are tailored to their lifestyles."

Channel Four's Grand Designs is filming 10 people who are building their dream home at the site.

News Bites

Homes plan

BICESTER: Plans to build 180 homes at Gavray Drive, Langford Village, have been recommended for approval today.

Gallagher Estates want outline planning permission for the seven-hectare site. The application includes public amenity space, recreation areas and flood storage compensation works.

The site has a controversial background – it previously had planning approval for 500 homes but ecologist Dominic Woodfield had it quashed after concerns were raised about rare wildlife.

A campaign was also launched to designate it a nature reserve.

Life's a beach

BICESTER: Hundreds of people attended the launch of Bicester Healthy town on Saturday to enjoy a host of free activities.

These included a beach in Market Square complete with sandcastle contest, health walks and cycle rides, outdoor gym, cafe, bike MOTs and table tennis.

Bicester has been awarded healthy town status thanks to the work being done at the eco town to encourage sustainable and healthy living.

Conversion bid

BICESTER: Proposals to convert a kitchen and bathroom shop in Churchill Road into eight houses and flats has been recommended for approval.

Cherwell district councillors are due to decide the planning application tonight.

Spring into Action

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quiet a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing – just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Call 01865 582 171 for more information

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply want's to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

Step into Spring – with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientfically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be e_ ciently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

For more information and to arrange a FREE no obligation site visit simply call one of their helpful team on 01865 582 171.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

ADVERTORIAL

Simple steps homeowners can take now to protect their assets.

Head of April King Legal Paul King explains why some homeowners are doing too little, too late to protect their hard-earned assets.

Paul King, Head of April King Legal

Care Cost Fees

"A lot of people are still unaware that if they need care in later life, their assets will be means-tested by the Local Authority to help pay for these services."

"The Local Authority will look to use the assets of a person until they get down to a lower limit of £14,250, when the Local Authority will take over the fees."

"For instance, my own grandmother sadly passed away recently at the age of 92. My grandfather had died many years earlier and left everything to her."

"When she needed care in the last six years of her life, because my grandfather had left everything to her, the house and all the estate was counted in the Local Authority's means test."

"Our clients tell us, 'We've worked hard all our lives, why should the Local Authority get it all?'"

"Just as she died, she had gone down to that lower limit of £14,250 and that's all her children inherited."

"There are many myths about the steps people can take to protect their assets from being used like this."

"The main one is that a parent should simply sign their house over to the children now, so it won't be taken into consideration for means testing. That's just not true."

"Local Authorities will actually look to see if you've 'deliberately deprived' yourself of an asset by giving property away, going back over any period in time."

"Sometimes people think that if the gift is made seven years prior then the house is safe. This is not so as the seven-year rule only applies to Inheritance Tax and not Local Authority care."

"The solution is for couples to simply not leave everything to each other in the first place."

"What my grandfather could have done is leave his half of the house in trust to his children, stating that they couldn't have it while his wife, my grandmother, was still alive. We call these Property Trust Wills."

"If my grandfather had left his half of the house in trust to the children then when my grandmother subsequently received care in her later life she would only have been means tested on her own half of the house, but my grandfather's half would have been safe."

"Why should he have to contribute his half when he didn't receive any care?"

"The important factor is that couples need to act in advance. Once one party dies or loses mental capacity, through a stroke for example, then they are no longer in a position to do this legitimate and straightforward type of planning."

"It is therefore important for couples to act now even if they may not foresee care fees being an issue."

Paul goes on to explain that most clients he sees are surprised to learn remarriage usually cancels a Will and makes the spouse next in line to inherit, ahead of their own children! Protecting your half of the house in this way, he suggests, ensures that your children ultimately inherit when the survivor dies.

"Had my grandmother remarried after the death of my grandfather the whole estate could have passed sideways out of the family," says Paul.

Lasting Power of Attorney

Paul explains how people often get confused thinking that, because they have made a Will, their executors can also deal with assets if there is illness, stroke or some other form of incapacity while they are still alive.

"Everyone should actually have two documents – a Will that deals with their estate on death, and a Lasting Power of Attorney that deals with their estate during their lifetime," he says.

"There are two types of Lasting Power of Attorney – one deals with finance, the other deals with health and welfare."

"In many ways it's similar to a passport; a document that's registered now and one which can be physically handed to the attorneys should the need arise."

"It allows the attorneys, perhaps the children, to deal with the banks and pension companies etc should their parent become incapacitated, but also to deal with matters such as where the parent should be living and how they should receive care."

"Your attorneys, again perhaps your children, must legally act in your best interests at all times."

"You can choose a number of attorneys to act, either jointly or independently, and April King advises on the various options available."

"Couples are often surprised to discover that even joint bank accounts can be frozen until the bank sees sight of a Lasting Power of Attorney document."

"Having a Lasting Power of Attorney removes the burden on children should ill health happen further down the line."

"It helps a family deal with bank accounts and so on during a parent's lifetime and ceases on death."

"Crucially, you have to complete a Lasting Power of Attorney while you are still in good mental health."

"If someone becomes ill through say, a stroke or dementia, this option is lost and the family would have to apply for a Deputyship Order from the Court of Protection – a drawn out and expensive process."

"It is therefore a good idea for clients to plan ahead and remove any future burden from the family."

"Once again, all adults should be thinking of this, particularly when there are children or a business involved."

"It's not just something to think about when you get older, that's the challenge for us."

"People think, 'I'm not ill, why do I need to make a Power of Attorney?' But they're missing the point. This is a document that has to be done in advance."

"The Lasting Power of Attorney remains in place until you die unless you want to cancel it."

"Once it's registered, you don't have to worry if you then develop some debilitating illness. A burden has been removed from the family at an already difficult time."

Bloodline Trust Wills

The majority of April King's clients have already made standard 'Mirror Wills' with other firms before approaching the Firm. A Mirror Will is when a couple leave everything to each other on the first death, then to the children when the second partner dies. But modern family life means these type of Wills leave a lot to chance.

Explains Paul: "If I have a Mirror Will leaving everything to my wife and she remarries or goes into care after my death then either the new husband or the Local Authority are likely to inherit most, if not all, of my estate ahead of my children."

"Even if my children are named in my Mirror Will, it is by no means certain that they will inherit anything."

"Once again, this is because a remarriage would cancel the Will my wife had previously made with me and make the new husband next-of-kin."

"This often comes as a big shock to my clients who had perhaps thought that all was in order and that the family bloodline would one day inherit."

"The same is true for thinking that their children and/or grandchildren will one day benefit under a Mirror Will."

"If any of your children should die leaving everything to their husband or wife and that son-in-law or daughter-in-law should then remarry, then your grandchildren would be the ones to lose out under the line of inheritance."

"Worse still, someone else's grandchildren would be in line to receive the benefit of all your years of hard work."

"I've experienced this in my own family and I'm sure most people have had similar experiences or heard of someone who has."

"Bloodline Trust Wills give greater protection to your children."

"These type of Wills not only give your children complete control and access to the inheritance they receive from you, they also grant added protection from the twists and turns of modern family life."

"The wording in these Wills states that any money left over on their demise must pass to any children born of them – your grandchildren."

Family home in Sutton Courtenay

Located 3.5 miles south of Abingdon is the parish village of Sutton Courtenay. The historic village dates back to Anglo-Saxon times and has been featured in Channel 4's 'Time Team'.

The author George Orwell is buried in the grounds of the parish church, arranged by his friends after his death in London, in accordance with his wish.

Sutton Courtenay is also home to a primary school, a shop, post office and village veterinary practice.

Nestled in the grounds of an impressive 156ft garden with mature shrubs and trees sits, this light, bright and well-appointed family home.

The property has been designed with family in mind, making the best possible use of each of the rooms with the fifth bedroom currently used as the family office.

To the ground floor, the welcoming entrance hall provides convenient access to three bedrooms and the

Why landlords need to be savvy of new energy laws

If you're a landlord, or even if you're home owner who has bought or sold in the last 10 years, then it's likely you'll be aware of Energy Performance Certificates - EPCs.

Much like the stickers you'll find on a fridge-freezer, an EPC provides an indication of the current and potential energy efficiency of a property. But did you know that within the next year, new energy efficiency legislation will come in to force that, if you're a landlord, you'll need to not only be aware of, but also compliant of?

Simply, in April 2018 new Minimum Energy Efficiency Standards (MEES) come into force which will mean that a rental property must achieve a minimum "E" rating for all new leases and renewals.

It will be illegal to rent a property that does not meet this minimum requirement due to what will be deemed its 'substandard' conditions.

It may be easy to think that no-one really takes any notice of EPC ratings, and therefore you needn't worry yourself too much with this new legislation. However, with Trading Standards able to impose fines of up to £4,000, now is the time to do your homework and ensure the properties within your portfolio make the grade.

The first step to take, of course, is to ensure that your properties have valid and up to date EPCs in place. Going through the necessary expert assessment will allow a new EPC to reflect any recent improvements which you've made, as well as highlight any improvements that can be made.

It's worth remembering too that these improvements don't need to be terribly onerous or difficult to carry out. One of the major causes of heat loss in a residential building is through doors and windows with insufficient seals so replacing these can help to eliminate any drafts, whilst adding additional insulation to loft areas can help reduce heat loss through roofs. Don't forget that low energy LED bulbs can often be installed in to existing sockets!

Cavity wall insulation and replacement windows are other options, although both are arguably more disruptive unless you plan on carry out a wider scheme of improvements. If this is the case, then you may also consider an upgrade to a more energy efficient boiler or the installation of a smart meter.

Something to remember, however, is that even if you're not a landlord but are planning to sell your property to an investor who will rent it out, then the EPC rating will still need to make the minimum "E" grade.

Where the responsibility in this situation lies is naturally a grey area, but ensuring a property is as energy efficient as it possibly can be is no bad thing and will help to improve its saleability.

If you have queries relating to how you can make your property as energy efficient as possible, then the team at your local Andrews branch – there are five across Oxfordshire – will be happy to help and advise you. Go to andrewsonline.co.uk.

Landlords - be alert to changing market conditions

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

Over recent weeks I have detected some changes in the Oxford rental market. It is important that landlords and owners of buy-to-let properties recognise the changes and protect their position.

During April and early May there was a large availability of rental properties across the Oxford market. I believe that this is due to two key factors: properties bought in March 2016 to beat the new stamp duty surcharge have come on to the market for re-let, many for the first time since they were bought; and, there is a general level of uncertainty resulting from the general election being called at a time when Brexit was already creating uncertainty, particularly for foreign nationals coming to Oxford to live, study or work.

The quantity of enquiries from prospective tenants has remained reasonably buoyant, and although the volume of demand is subdued, it is certainly comparable to the same period 12 months earlier. However, the increased supply is resulting in greater choice for prospective tenants, which in turn is delaying their offer decisions, and creating price sensitivity.

What does this mean for landlords? Firstly, buy-to-let owners need to be open to offers from tenants, even where those offers may be below the advertised rent. Prospective tenants are savvy, and they are actively comparing rental values and the value for money between different available properties.

Secondly, landlords should be open to feedback from tenants and from their letting agent on the condition of your property. Properties that are presented at a high level of condition continue to attract more offers relative to comparable properties presented in a poorer condition.

Thirdly, landlords should encourage and even incentivise existing tenants to renew their tenancy by offering an attractive renewal rent. The biggest cost for a landlord is a void period, extending current tenants mitigates the risk of a void ensuring that the property is continuously occupied.

I don't believe that the fundamentals of demand for Oxford are dramatically changing, but Oxford like Cambridge, has an increasing tendency to track the London market albeit with a delay of six to nine months. London had two poor quarters – Q4 2016 and Q1 2017 - and we may see a similar picture emerge in Oxford during Q2 and Q3 2017. I expect house prices to continue rising but at a subdued rate of growth of around 5% per annum (in prime central London they fell back) and across the market I expect rents to rise at a noticeably lower rate of growth of between 2% to 4% during 2017.

Agent rewarded for having the golden touch with customers

A leading Oxfordshire estate agent has scooped gold in industry awards based on customer feedback.

Breckon & Breckon, who have offices throughout Oxfordshire, received the award in the southern region at the ESTAS 2017.

The awards, now in their 14th year, determine the best estate and letting agents in the UK based purely on feedback from customers who are asked a series of questions about the service they have received from their agent. More than 34,000 surveys were completed by customers during the competition.

Phil Spencer, who has hosted the ESTAS every year since their inception, said: "This industry doesn't get enough credit for the work it does in helping millions of customers around the UK and making their dreams come true and at the ESTAS we want to highlight that fact."

Addressing the audience at Grosvenor House in Park Lane, he added: "If you make it up on stage today you can leave in the knowledge that you've achieved the highest accolade our industry can offer."

Jane Gardner, Kate Donoghue, Phil Spencer, Summer Swailes, Greg Barnes, Jessica Wulff and Amy Powell from Breckon & Breckon

Simon Brown, founder of the ESTAS, said: "Like it not we live in a world where the consumer decision making process is influenced more and more by customer reviews so the ESTAS provides a kite mark of excellent service for any property professional involved in the home moving process."

Greg Barnes, managing director of Breckon & Breckon's letting business, said: "These awards are based solely on customer feedback so we were absolutely thrilled to be shortlisted, let alone win gold for the southern region. We work incredibly hard to maintain our service levels so it's great for it to be publicly recognised and proves we are delivering what we promise."

ENTERTAINMENT & LISTINGS

On the fringe of variety

By Samantha McGregor

TICKETS have gone on sale for the second annual Offbeat, Oxford's fringe festival of performing arts.

Taking place at Oxford Playhouse and Old Fire Station from June 23 to July 2, Offbeat will stage 71 events over the 10 days spanning theatre, comedy, spoken word, music and dance offering something for everyone.

Room is a one-on-one experience for a blindfolded audience member, while Wrecked takes place inside a crashed car.

Offbeat will also include a preview of performance poet and playwright Richard Marsh's new show Todd & God, and James Rowland's A Hundred Different Words for Love.

Weekends offer shows for families, including two for under-threes and a dance programme.

A year on from the European referendum, there is fierce political theatre from #TORYCORE, a satirical Brexit tale in Blowfish Theatre's Boris – The Musical!, or catch comedian Mark Thomas's new show A Show That Gambles on the Future.

Returning for the second year running is Radio 4 presenter Viv Groskop, and the multi-award winning Sajeela Kershi and Sameena Zehra.

Roxanne Carney stars in a spoken word performance entitled I'm the hero of this story on June 30

The festival also celebrates a host of local artists.

Luke Rollason, a 2015 University of Oxford graduate, presents Planet Earth III a low budget one-man documentary set in the future, and fellow Oxford graduate Matthew Floyd Jones, the keyboard playing half of Frisky & Mannish, perform new dark comedy Richard Carpenter's Close To You.

The festival gives six Oxfordshire women, aged 20 to 80, a voice to celebrate the courage and bravery of ordinary women.

While Standby Theatre's The Room of Lost Things, is inspired by secrets collected from the people of Oxford.

Festival Producer Vicky Graham said: "I am so excited that the shared vision of an entrepreneurial arts centre and an established regional theatre has created this opportunity for the performing artists of the future to meet adventurous local and national audiences.

"I cannot wait to see Oxford – a city steeped with heritage and culture – humming with a rich, complex and entertaining contemporary programme, and look forward to putting Offbeat firmly on the festival map."

Offbeat is a partnership between Oxford Playhouse and Arts at the Old Fire Station, and supported by Arts Council England.

Ticket prices for all performances will be £10 or less.

Rocking the Cellar

MUSIC: Garage-rockers Otherkin are back in Oxford on Thursday, May 25, to headline The Cellar, in Frewin Court, Oxford.

Having just returned from an extensive tour of the UK in which Otherkin supported The Amazons at The Bullingdon in March, they are back for a headline slot in Oxford.

Nothing tame here!

MUSIC: Tickets have gone on sale for Thame Town Music Festival, which takes place on July 8.

A total of 50 acts will appear across nine venues including Glen Matlock and Friends, Slim Jim Phantom from The Stay Cats, The 27, Nikki Loy and Hiway 51.

Nothing common here!

By Samantha McGregor

Duran Duran performed at last year's Common People festival

FESTIVAL Common People makes a return to Oxford for the bank holiday weekend with Sean Paul and Pete Tong headlining.

Appearing over the weekend will also be Rag'N'Bone Man, Groove Armada, Saint Etienne, Amy MacDonald, House Gospel Choir, Becky Hill, The Cuban Brothers and Elvana - Elvis Fronted Nirvana.

Common People founder Rob da Bank said: "Common People is all about having some proper moments together as friends and family.

"Held with the help and support of Oxford City Council, Common People 2017 is gonna kick off the festival seasonal with a proper party

"Our cast this year to make you dance, sing and generally lose your shizzle include none other than recent Number One album artist, Mr Pete Tong, a legend of the dance and Radio 1 for over quarter of a century now, and here with a rare outdoor performance of his orchestral wonder Ibiza Dance Classics.

"Also, stepping up is Sean Paul, a dancehall god with more bangers up his sleeve than a fireworks factory."

Sean Paul is topping the bill on Saturday and DJ legend Pete Tong and the Heritage Orchestra and conductor Jules Buckley will headline The Common Stage on Sunday night.

Pete Tong said: "Performing Ibiza Classics with the Heritage Orchestra and Jules Buckley is one of the most exciting things I've ever been involved with, from stepping on stage at The Royal Albert Hall for the R1 proms through to performing to a packed to the rafters 02 in London, it's been a non-stop thrill, now bringing the show to the great outdoors for our first festival appearance at Common People could be our biggest thrill yet."

As well as the music there will be plenty of other entertainment at the site, including a disco shed, vintage fun fair rides, street food, a cocktail bar, children's area, face painting and "crazy" inflatables.

Taking place at South Park on Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28, the festival is produced by the creators of Bestival.

Look up to the skies...

The Battle of Britain Memorial Flight is paying a visit to Bicester during the Flywheel Festival.

Held at former Second World War bomber station, Bicester Heritage, Flywheel celebrates the best in historic aviation and cars and takes place on June 24 and 25.

The sky above Bicester will also see the return of one of Britain's most famous flying machines, a Mk IX Spitfire flying in its original 222 Squadron Code ZD-B livery.

It will be joined in a dogfight recreation by a Hispano Buchon in Messerschmitt 'Yellow 10' livery, with both aircraft also touching down to be on static display.

There will also be dogfighting action from the renowned Great War Display Team and precision flying from the Tiger 9 Aeronautical Display Team.

Historic helicopters and biplanes will showcase their skills in the sky.

Elsewhere, hundreds of historic road, racing cars and bikes will take to the demonstration track.

There will also be fun fair rides, military re-enactors, a vintage trade fair, period music performances and food stalls.

Richard Grafton, Flywheel director, said: "That we are still able to witness the engineering feats of some 80 years ago, is testament to the enduring legacy of these iconic machines."

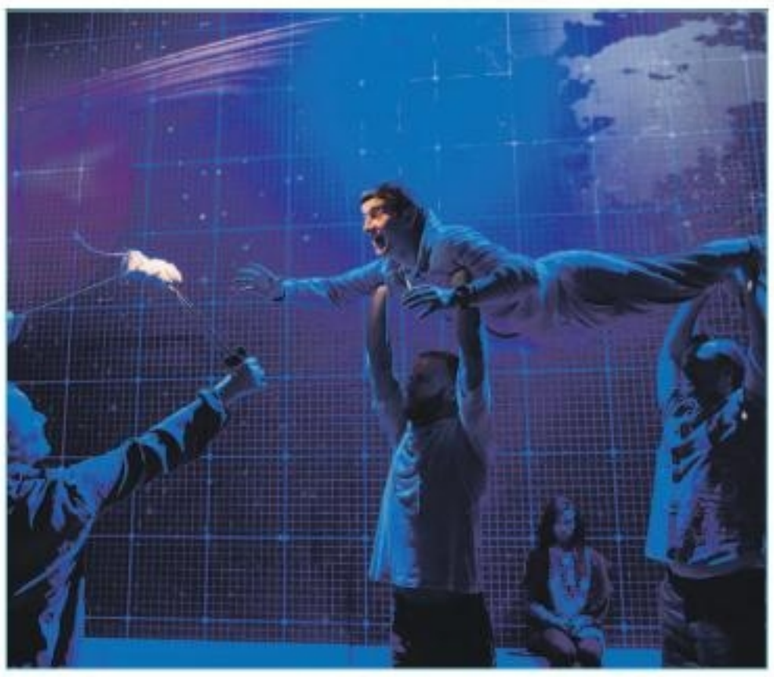
Can you detect the real truth behind the curious incident?

By Samantha McGregor



THE Curious Incident Of The Dog in the Night-time returns to Oxford's New Theatre Oxford this month after a sell-out run in 2015.

The play is adapted from Mark Haddon's best-selling book by Simon Stephens and directed by Marianne Elliott.

The show tells the story of 15-year-old Christopher Boone.

He stands beside Mrs Shears' dead dog, which has been speared with a garden fork – it is seven minutes after midnight and Christopher is under suspicion.

He records each fact in a book he is writing to solve the mystery of who murdered Wellington.

Christopher has an extraordinary brain, and is exceptional at maths but ill-equipped to interpret everyday life.

He has never ventured alone beyond the end of his road, he detests being touched and distrusts strangers.

But his detective work, forbidden by his father, takes him on a frightening journey that upturns his world.

Playing the central role of Christopher Boone is Scott Reid – currently appearing in BBC1's comedy Still Game, with Lucianne McEvoy as his teacher Siobhan, Emma Beattie as Judy, David Michaels as his father Ed, Debra Michaels as Mrs Alexander and Eliza Collings as Mrs Shears.

The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time received seven Olivier Awards in 2013, including Best New Play and five Tony Awards on Broadway including Best Play.

Mr Haddon is an Oxford based author, illustrator and screenwriter who has written 15 books for children and won two BAFTAs.

His best-selling novel, The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-time, won 17 literary prizes, including the Whitbread Award.

In the lead up to the play appearing in Oxford Mr Haddon visited several schools across the county talking to pupils about the novel, which was added to GSCE literature text for schools in 2014.

The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-time takes to the stage from Monday, May 22, and runs until Saturday, May 27.

Tickets from the New Theatre box office on George Street, by calling 0844 871 3020 or from atgtickets.com/oxford

Snapper down at fish shop

One of the portraits by Kazem Hakimi taken at his chippy

THE first major exhibition by photographer Kazem Hakimi has opened across two galleries.

Called Portraits from a Chip Shop, the show, at the Old Fire Station and Modern Art Oxford, features portraits taken by Kazem over the past two years as part of the OX4 project.

Well known in the East Oxford community, Kazem has recorded his community by posing his customers against the same white wall at the back of his fish and chip shop on the Iffley Road in East Oxford.

He said: "My customers are a cross-section of society and the photographs reveal an Oxford which is very different to the image of the city known to the outside world, one that is multi-ethnic and diverse. This series celebrates the range of characters who have made Oxford the city I love."

Born in Shiraz, Iran in 1960, Hakimi moved to Oxford in the 1980s and studied Civil Engineering at Oxford Polytechnic, where he spent most of his time in the photography department, mastering his art over the last 30 years.

Hakimi has previously exhibited in solo and group exhibitions across Oxfordshire and in 2008, his work was published in the book An Eye for Iran: The Photographs of Kazem Hakimi.

Emma Ridgway, head of programme at Modern Art Oxford says: "His dignified photographic portraits capture trust, warmth and compassion; the images invite us to share a moment of emotional connection between the subject and artist.

"It is also inspiring that he creates these excellent portraits while running a full-time business, using his chip shop as his photographic studio. "

Subaru BRZ 2.0i SE Lux Auto

Nimble, frisky and a bit of a minx

By Tony Yates

IF you talk to anyone about buying a Subaru – they will automatically think you are a 'yobbo' and cast you aside thinking the only possible reason you had for buying one in the first place - was because you wanted to annoy every other road user.

And I have to admit - in a way, they do have a point, as there is a young chap who lives just round the corner from me who annoys me very much – because, he thinks owning a Subaru WRX STi means he needs to have a stereo the size of 'The Planet Earth' – and wheels that would not look out of place on a JCB.

Well I would like you to forget all about that now and instead focus on the new 2017 model Subaru BRZ – because actually this could just be the new sports car you have been yearning for.

Power and efficiency

Fitted with a 2.0 litre horizontally-opposed (Boxer), 4-cylinder, 4-stroke (DOHC 16V) petrol engine with 200ps @ 7000rpm and 205Nm of torque. 0-62mph is around 8.2sec, fuel consumption is a decent 39.8 mpg combined and a top speed of around 130mph.

Boxer engines have taken some stick in the past – but, actually they fascinate me - and the Boxer engine in the BRZ is pretty cool, thanks to key features such as the engine's square bore and stroke (86mm x 86mm), which all helps achieve a balance between mechanical efficiency, environmental performance, speed and power.

The engine is also fitted with the D-4S direct and port injection system. This selects the appropriate fuel injection rate to provide greater fuel efficiency and lower emissions.

On the road

Nimble, frisky and if I am being honest, a little minx – and that's just to get you started.

Take the nimble little BRZ out on the road and you will feel how well it grips – again thanks to the BRZ being fitted with a Torsen limited slip rear differential for improved traction, allowing the more enthusiastic driver to make the most of the car's rear-wheel drive layout.

Of course to get the best out of a sports car – you need to have a front-engined, rear-wheel drive layout – and the BRZ has this by the bucket load.

For 2017, the dampers have also been redesigned to reduce body roll, increase precision whilst cornering, which has made a massive impact on ride comfort whilst still being a dynamically focused machine.

Subaru has also lowered the strut mounts to help reduce the centre of gravity which helps give the BRZ a much sleeker and lower profile on the road.

Design & technology

Some of the additional standard equipment on the BRZ includes; Auto on headlights (LED front & LED rear) 6.2" multifunction colour touchscreen, satellite navigation, 17" alloy wheels, heated front seats, dual-zone automatic air-conditioning, cruise control, ABS, brake assist, front, side, curtain and knee airbags.

• Is this Subaru the sports car you have been yearning for?

To sum up

What can I say – the BRZ is a great drive and perfect for someone who wants a nimble little sports car.

Holidays

POLRUAN COTTAGES CORNWALL

Self-Catering Holiday Cottages overlooking the Beautiful Fowey River.

Cottages to sleep from 2 to 8 persons with stunning views.

If you have a cottage in this area and are thinking of holiday letting, please do get in touch. Alternatively if you have or are thinking of buying a second home in south east Cornwall but do not wish to rent it out and are worried because you are so far away, we will step in to help, making insurance checks or just to read the electric meter, giving you peace of mind someone is popping in to check the property.

Puncture at the end lets Grosjean in for a point

F1

A LATE collision with Daniil Kvyat in Sunday's Spanish Grand Prix caused Haas and Kevin Magnussen to miss out on a ninth-place finish.

Magnussen was battling to keep Kvyat behind him in the closing stages but picked up a puncture after contact between the two cars.

He dropped to 14th as a result, although it did mean that his teammate Romain Grosjean moved up into 10th to at least score one point for the Banbury-based team.

However, the team was disappointed not to get more out of the race in which a number of big name drivers fell out of contention.

Team principal Guenther Steiner blamed the medium tyres.

He said: "A disappointing end following a good start to the race.

"We were in good positions, the car was going well on the soft tyres and then the virtual safety car came out and we lost all our momentum.

"It just came out at the wrong time. We went too early on to the medium tyres and we just couldn't get it to work.

"The guys lost a few positions and then Kevin had a puncture.

"The only good thing coming out of here is that we got a point.

"We should have more, but that's racing."

Massa's pain in Spain

F1

By Adam Flinn

ON a day when a big haul of points was possible, Williams could only manage 13th and 16th places in a disastrous afternoon for the Grove-based team at Sunday's Spanish Grand Prix.

A puncture on the first lap following contact with Fernando Alonso's McLaren ruined Felipe Massa's race, dropping him to the back after making an early pitstop.

He was then hit by the other McLaren of Stoffel Vandoorne on lap 33, bringing out the virtual safety car as the Belgian retired.

From then on all Massa could do was bring the car home, eventually finishing 13th.

But the Brazilian believes fourth could have been possible after Kimi Raikkonen and Max Verstappen were eliminated in a collision at the first corner and Valtteri Bottas retired with mechanical problems.

He said: "I'm so disappointed.

"I had a fantastic start, passing [Sergio] Perez and Alonso on the straight and then I got to turn one and saw the incident ahead.

"I got to turn two and Alonso was suddenly on the outside of the corner. We touched and I picked up a puncture, which ruined my race.

"We had a big opportunity to finish fourth, which I think I could have done because we had good pace.

"It's really painful because we lost so many points as a team."

It was an equally disappointing day for Massa's team-mate Lance Stroll, who struggled with his tyres for much of the race and limped home to 16th and last.

The young Canadian had started 18th and while he didn't suffer the dramas that Massa did, he just wasn't able to find the pace in his car on the medium tyres.

He said: "It was not a great race. I have had better ones and I just found it frustrating.

"The start was good, as were the first couple of stints on the soft tyres and I had good pace at the beginning, but we just struggled on the mediums and started to lose grip.

"It was just one of those races, but I am sure it will be better next time.

"At every race I get more and more confident, but this weekend was just a tough one."

Massa is ninth in the championship standings with 18 points, while Stroll has yet to score. Williams are sixth in the constructors' table.

The next race is the prestigious Monaco Grand Prix on May 28.

Best finish for Renault since return to F1

F1

RENAULT picked up their best finishing position since returning to Formula One at the start of 2016 as Nico Hulkenberg came sixth at the Spanish Grand Prix on Sunday.

Most of the hard work was done at the start as Hulkenberg leapt from 13th on the grid to seventh.

He briefly dropped behind the Sauber of Pascal Wehrlein during the pitstops but was able to regain it and moved up another place when Valtteri Bottas' Mercedes retired midway through the race.

"It's been our lucky day with some of the top cars out at the start, but also later on in the race too, so we clearly benefited from that," said Hulkenberg.

"At the same time we were there at every opportunity to do a good job and the guys did a great second pitstop to enable us to pass the Sauber."

Jolyon Palmer wasn't able to take advantage of three of the top six drivers dropping out, narrowly avoiding last place after getting past Lance Stroll on the final lap.

He said: "We went for an aggressive strategy given my starting position on the grid and I think it's fair to say it didn't bring us the reward we wanted.

"I wasn't able to get the pace out of the car when it was needed. However we were going better on the final set of tyres."

Youngsters miss out on chance to tread hallowed turf

Chinnor RFC's u12s

Rugby Union

AN up-and-coming rugby star insisted he still experienced a memorable weekend at a festival organised by the Northampton Saints – despite missing out on appearing at Twickenham.

Ben Chanter, the captain of Chinnor RFC u12s, and his side failed to qualify for the parade around the hallowed turf in the Land Rover Premiership Cup.

"It's absolutely amazing to be here at such a prestigious tournament," the 11-year-old said.

"I feel really proud and lucky to be in this team. I love the physical side of the game – it is like controlled aggression.

"It is great to play rugby with your friends and it would have been amazing to get the chance to go to Twickenham."

Chinnor put up a strong fight in the tournament on Saturday at Northampton's ground with their brave tackling, crisp passes and slick offloads, but it just wasn't to be.

More than 20 teams took part including Wallingford U12s.

The festivals around the country celebrate rugby's traditional core values of teamwork, respect, enjoyment, discipline and sportsmanship.

Oxford leave it late

Rugby League

By George Welch

SUMMER signing Harrison Brough caught the eye on his debut with two tries, including the winner, in Oxford RL's first ever victory over Hunslet.

Tim Romford's side left it late to steal maximum points in a thrilling 24-22 win against the division's oldest team in the last few minutes at Tilsley Park on Sunday.

First blood went to Leeds-based Hunslet who opened the scoring when Liam Mackay found a gap in the Oxford defence.

The Blues, in their first match back from their Toronto visit, hit back in the Kingstone Press League 1 clash thanks to Brough, who touched down in the corner for his first try of the afternoon.

A converted Jake Joynt try edged the hosts ahead and, as soon as they got the ball back, the lead was extended by a Josh Atkinson try.

Hunslet's second penalty of the match also led to their second try and, after Oxford had a try disallowed, it looked as though it would be only a small advantage for the home side at the break.

Seconds before the buzzer however, Harvey Burnett ran in Oxford's fourth try, which he converted himself, to give the Blues a 20-12 interval lead.

Hunslet's Cameron Leeming dived over for an unconverted try after the restart and they were soon level when George Flanagan crossed the line.

The tide turned in the away side's favour when Joe Sanderson, who had missed his two previous conversion attempts, landed a penalty goal to put Hunslet 22-20 ahead.

But Oxford crossed the line for the decisive score when Brough crashed over in the corner with four minutes left on the clock.

Hunslet kept fighting and twice they were held up over the line as the Blues secured an historic win.

Oxford coach Tim Rumford said that it was "a very, very pleasing end result, but our performance can be better".

Rumford will take his Oxford side, who are 10th with three wins and three defeats, to pointless South Wales Ironmen on Saturday.

Stars to field a development team

Ice Hockey

OXFORD City Stars will field a development team for the 2017/18 season following a major restructuring of the English hockey league.

The second team, called Oxford Junior Stars, will compete in the third tier, known as NIHL2 South, and will face 12 other sides including Basingstoke Buffalo, Bracknell Hornets, and Swindon Wildcats 2.

This means Oxford will have teams in both the second and third tiers in the UK after the English Ice Hockey Association announced a new league format earlier this month.

Jayne Harrison, from the Junior Stars, said: "This is a landmark event in terms of junior hockey development in the city and is reward for the hard work we've all invested in the junior club. We're looking forward to exciting times ahead."

The club said the Junior Stars would aid player development and help ensure a stable long-term future for the club.

Stars director Russell Shrives said: "We are building a really good relationship with the Oxford Junior Club and a major factor in developing this further will be the newly formed NIHL2 Oxford team that the junior club will run as a predominately development team, with a few old heads thrown in for their experience.

"This is extremely exciting and of the utmost importance for Oxford."

To build the team, the Junior Stars will hold a summer league for six weeks starting on June 7.

For more information and to register interest, contact John Harrison at john@hhmedical.plus.com

Oxford City Stars will play in Division 1 – the new second tier – next season and have been placed in Conference A.

They will be joined by Bracknell Bees, Basingstoke Bison, Milton Keynes Thunder, Solent Devils and Cardiff Fire.

The NIHL season will begin on the weekend of September 2/3 and is scheduled to end April 7/8.

Brilliant batting halts Bicester charge

Cricket

A REMARKABLE batting performance from East Oxford frustrated Bicester & North Oxford cricket club (BNOCC) as their league game was drawn.

Big scores from Alister Gibbins (111) and Nick Moorman (95) in a second wicket partnership of 183 helped Bicester to an imposing 304-6.

Debutant Will Irving chipped in with a useful 34 as Bicester went into the interval feeling confident with such a large total for the visitors to chase.

BNOCC made the dream start with Andy Godbold (4-60) ripping through the East Oxford top order, including two in the second over of the innings, leaving them reeling at 60-5.

However Mubasher Hassan (78) and Amir Butt (88) set about rebuilding and stood firm in a sixth wicket partnership of 159.

The pair had a real go, adding 126 in the 15 overs after drinks to keep them in touch with the run rate. With the game in the balance and East Oxford requiring 85 to win from the last nine overs, Danny Clark (2-49) made a breakthrough with Hassan caught at square leg by Moore.

Bicester now scented victory through two late wickets for Dan Murphy, one of them Butt, stumped by Warwick Bradfield.

But East Oxford clung on with two wickets remaining, surviving the remaining four balls to finish on 241-8, securing a hard-fought draw.

Eddie Pepperell

Pepperell misses the cut again after a good start

Golf

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell probably thought his 2017 could only improve on a disastrous 2016 that ended with a trip to Spain for qualification school to keep his European Tour card.

The 26-year-old endured a torrid second half of last year, missing the cut in seven of his eight tournaments from August to October.

But any hopes to climb the European and world rankings can, so far, be condemned to an unfulfilled new year's resolution as the Frilford Heath member's form this season has been akin to that of 2016.

Pepperell's 2017 campaign, which started in December, has involved six missed cuts from seven competitions – the latest a T96 finish at last week's Open de Portugal.

After carding a par in his first round, which was disrupted by thunderstorms, he recorded -1 for his second round and for the tournament to narrowly miss the cut by two shots.

Pepperell had a whirlwind second round that included five birdies and four bogeys.

Heading towards the clubhouse, he was at -4 and comfortably inside the cut-line. But disaster struck when he dropped three shots in the final five holes for a total of 145.

Englishman Matt Wallace won the title with a score of -21, three shots ahead of his closest rivals Julian Suri.

Pepperell tees off at the Rocco Forte Open in Verdura, Sicily today.

Free membership bid to attract tomorrow's talent

Golf

A GOLF club in Oxford is appealing to the next generation of stars by offering free memberships.

Oxford Golf Club is offering free membership to children and grandchildren of full members of the club as part of an initiative to help grow the game of golf.

One of the county's oldest clubs, with origins of golf played on the Cowley Marsh site from as early as 1873, has backed an initiative led by England Golf to increase participation and encourage people to 'Get into Golf'.

Ten memberships have been taken since the start of the campaign in April.

Stephen Nicholson, general manager of Oxford Golf Club, said: "The initial uptake of our free junior membership has been great to see.

"We are keen to encourage the juniors to take part in all of the exciting activities, coaching and competitions we have planned throughout the year, and in future moving into adulthood.

"Oxford Golf Club have a strong reputation of encouraging juniors, like single-figure handicapper Peter Pan, who only turned 12 years of age last week.

Peter Pan

"And we hope that they will remain members and provide the longevity of membership for years to come."

Looking after the development of the juniors of Oxford Golf Club is the responsibility of Joe Pepperell, the resident PGA Professional, and brother of European Tour player Eddie.

Joe said: "The more juniors we can get experiencing the game, the better. Once they have that buzz, all they want to do is get better and better."

2016/17 season review: January - April

United fight back for two cup runs and a charge up the table

OXFORD United fans couldn't be blamed for welcoming 2017 with an air of optimism.

While the first five months of the 2016/17 campaign was a period of steady adjustment as the U's adapted to life in the third tier, the new year began with Oxford sat in mid-table and fighting on three fronts.

In the four months between January and April, United jam-packed their schedule with 29 matches.

In that time Michael Appleton's side propelled themselves up the SkyBet League One table and continued their form in the Emirates FA Cup and the Checkatrade Trophy.

The Yellows' 62-game season included Wembley heartbreak for the second season running and the campaign ended the with the play-offs tantalisingly out of reach.

Appleton admitted Wembley defeat to Coventry City in the Checkatrade Trophy was the lowest moment in football for him, but he will be delighted with his team's performance over nine months, particularly in January and February.

United, who finished eighth and four points off the play-off places, gave fans plenty to cheer about in a season that has built solid foundations for the club to build on.

Three successive wins and clean sheets to finish the season sent U's supporters into the summer optimistic of another successful League One campaign, which will kick off on August 5.

2017

January

There was no New Year hangover for the United players and six wins in seven matches in all competitions made January the most successful month of the season.

Appleton celebrated his cup heroes following a 3-0 thrashing of eventual Championship winners Newcastle United at the Kassam Stadium – his 150th game in charge.

An inspired performance from goalkeeper Simon Eastwood and a debut goal from West Ham loanee Toni Martinez helped United to the thumping win against a significantly rotated Toon side.

Goals either side of half-time from Kane Hemmings and Curtis Nelson secured Oxford's first FA Cup fifth round appearance since the 1993/94 season. They would meet another north east side, Middlesbrough, in the next round.

Appleton hailed the fourth round win over the Magpies as the best of his career, despite beating Arsenal at the Emirates as Blackburn Rovers manager in 2013's FA Cup.

The U's also made progress in the Checkatrade Trophy, brushing aside two League One high-flyers – Scunthorpe United and Bradford City – to reach the semi-final.

Off the field, fans' favourites Alex MacDonald and Ryan Taylor both departed the club for League Two Mansfield and Plymouth. Appleton boosted his forward line with the loan signings of Conor McAleny from Everton and West Ham's Martinez.

February

Midfielder Liam Sercombe and winger Rob Hall became the latest names to become part of derby folklore when Oxford United came from behind to beat rivals Swindon Town at the County Ground.

The pair scored three minutes apart in the final 20 minutes to overturn a first half Swindon goal to complete a 2-1 win and a league double over the Robins.

A first ever win over MK Dons and further victories at Charlton Athletic and Chesterfield followed to launch Oxford from 12th at the start of the month to ninth and within sight of the play-offs heading into penultimate month of the season.

McAleny announced himself to U's fans in style with the winner at Charlton and a hat-trick against Chesterfield to help the Yellows to an impressive 10 wins in 13 matches.

Unfortunately for Appleton, hotshot McAleny was ineligible for the FA Cup fourth round when a late Middlesbrough goal broke the hearts of more than 3,300 United fans at the Riverside and cruelly ended Oxford's FA Cup giant killing hopes.

It initially looked far too easy for the Premier League side when Grant Leadbitter and Rudy Gestede gave the hosts a 2-0 lead within 35 minutes.

But United were brave and two goals in a minute from Chris Maguire and Martinez shortly after the hour mark brought Oxford level and dreaming of another cup upset.

That dream was crushed in the most dramatic fashion however, when Uruguay international Christian Stuani gave Middlesbrough, who would be relegated from the Premier League at the end of the season, a late winner four minutes from time.

March

The Oxford United squad was pushed to the limit in a month packed with eight league matches and a Checkatrade Trophy semi-final.

A thrilling 3-2 win at League Two Luton booked Oxford's tickets for the EFL Trophy final for a second consecutive year.

United held a commanding 2-0 lead heading into the final 20 minutes thanks to a first half strike from loanee right back Phil Edwards and an own goal.

However, the Hatters turned the game on its head with two goals in three minutes from Isaac Vassell and former United striker Danny Hylton.

It took a moment of individual brilliance from winger Marvin Johnson, whose left-footed curler from just outside the area five minutes from time reclaimed the away side's lead. Luton had no comeback this time.

The U's shared the League One goals around the squad with 10 different scorers on hand to notch 14 goals in eight games.

Three wins, a draw and four defeats left United four points off the play-offs heading into the final six league games.

McAleny continued to catch the eye and the forward received the plaudits once more for his second hat-trick for the club after joining in the winter transfer window.

His treble – and further goals from Marvin Johnson and Joe Rothwell – punished struggling Bury 5-1 at the Kassam as the U's warmed up in style for Wembley and ended the month in a seasons-high of eighth place.

April

Oxford United's players and fans enjoyed their day at Wembley in the final of the 2016 Johnstone's Paint Trophy – but this year Appleton said his side were there to win the trophy.

The head coach admitted he approached the Checkatrade Trophy final differently this time around but his under-par U's wilted in the Wembley sun for the second time in 12 months.

Coventry City midfielders Gail Bigirimana and George Thomas gave the Sky Blues, who were rooted to the bottom of League One, a two-goal advantage.

United failed to fight back despite Sercombe's lifeline 15 minutes from the end and some frantic, late pressure.

A dejected Appleton said he refused to watch the 2-1 defeat back and described the defeat as "the worst day I've had in football".

A bad week turned into a dreadful week when a home loss to Fleetwood Town three days later ended United's play-off hopes.

After stalling further with a solidary point against Walsall and Bradford City, the U's finished the season in assured style.

Academy product Josh Ruffels scored two goals in two games as United finished with a statement of intent for next season, racking up three consecutive wins and clean sheets.

A self-assured U's scored seven goals without reply against strugglers Port Vale and Shrewsbury Town and play-off finalists Millwall to finish an impressive season in eighth place, a position anybody would have taken back in August.

United lose trophy vote

By George Welch

OXFORD United were overwhelmingly outvoted over the structure of next season's Checkatrade Trophy.

Teams were given three options to choose from for the 2017/18 competition and voted by a big majority to keep the current format – with some key amendments.

The U's, who have finished runner-up for the last two seasons, were one of 11 clubs that wanted to revert to the previous layout.

The EFL Trophy was overhauled this season in an experiment that included 16 'invited sides' from the Championship and Premier League.

SkyBet League One and Two clubs met on Thursday last week to discuss the competition, which was marred in the early rounds by low attendances and fan boycotts.

The Yellows lost to Coventry City in this season's final in front of nearly 75,000 fans at Wembley last month, but voted to revert to the previous format of the competition.

Clubs could vote for one of three outcomes: to keep the current format with amendments, revert to a 48-team knockout competition or abandon the tournament altogether.

The EFL said 66.6 per cent of clubs voted for the first option so the format – with some key changes – will be retained for seasons 2017/18 and 2018/19.

Oxford United chairman Darryl Eales said: "It is a democratic process and we will abide by the vote."

Key changes to the current system include a more relaxed selection criteria, making invited academy teams play all of their group matches away from home and more prize money will be awarded, between just under £2m to £3m.

EFL chief executive Shaun Harvey said: "We committed at the outset of this season's competition to conduct a full and comprehensive review of the competition and, importantly, give our clubs the ability to ensure they make the key decisions regarding where we take the competition.

"After asking clubs in advance for some initial thoughts on the competition, today [last Thursday] was the next stage of the process and I'm delighted we were able to have such a full and frank exchange of views that will now assist the executive in refining a final proposal that our clubs will now vote on."

Mark Robins, manager of trophy-holders Coventry City, said: "The Checkatrade Trophy has been an invaluable experience for those players at an under-21 level to participate in senior football. It will certainly aid their development moving forward.

"We won the competition with what was primarily a young team."

U's sign Shearer – in goal

VETERAN goalkeeper Scott Shearer is ready to push player of the season Simon Eastwood all the way for the number one shirt at Oxford United.

The 36-year-old is U's boss Michael Appleton's first summer signing ahead of next season and has agreed a one-year deal, with a further 12-month option, after being released by Mansfield Town.

The stopper, who will initially provide backup to Eastwood, said the club's ambition enticed him to the Kassam Stadium.

He added: "They [Oxford] were a very strong side last season and everything here is geared towards building on that.

"Obviously I know that Simon Eastwood was player of the year, and deservedly so, but my role is to come in, push him all the way and add a bit of experience around the dressing room.

"I can't wait to get started."

The Scot has played over 350 games in a career that has seen him between the sticks at Rushden and Diamonds, Wycombe Wanderers, Crawley Town and, most recently, at SkyBet League Two side Mansfield Town.

Shearer's arrival will allow rookie keepers Jack Stevens and Manny Agboola to gain more playing time out on loan.

Appleton added: "Scott has vast experience and is still an excellent keeper. He knows the score: Easty [Simon Eastwood] is the number one.

"One of the things we talked about is adding a bit of experience to the dressing room so hopefully he is the first of a few older heads who will be really beneficial to the group as a whole."

Meanwhile, Burton loanee Phil Edwards, who made 38 appearances and scored three goals for the U's this season, has signed a two-year deal at Bury.

Leagues allocated for county's smaller teams

NON-LEAGUE teams in Oxfordshire have been allocated their divisions for the 2017/18 season.

The FA met on Thursday last week to discuss the league allocations for the new season.

Hellenic Premier League champions Thame United, under the stewardship of Mark West, will join Southern League Division One Central but, somewhat controversially, Kidlington will not.

The Greens, who enjoyed a mid-table finish in their first ever appearance at step 4 of the non-league structure, have questioned the decision to switch them into Division 1 South & West next season.

The Yarnton Road side thought they would stay in Division 1 Central but Portsmouth-based Moneyfields, promoted from the Wessex League, were placed in the Central division instead.

This means Kiddy will join Didcot Town and North Leigh in Division 1 South & West.

Wantage Town, relegated from that division last campaign, will join Ardley United and Abingdon United in the Hellenic Premier League.

There were no other moves for Oxfordshire's other top non-league sides, with Oxford City remaining in National League South and Banbury United remaining in the Southern Premier League.

The FA has also announced the biggest shake-up to the structure of the grassroots game in more than a decade.

Two new divisions at steps 3 (organised by EVO-STIK League Southern) and 4 (Isthmian League) will be introduced from August 2018 following a review of the national league system.

The restructure aims to iron out geographical anomalies, cut down on travelling costs and time for fans, players and officials and encourage more step 5 clubs to climb the pyramid.

In total, the 276 clubs currently playing in steps 1 to 4 will increase by 20 to 296.

Only the bottom clubs in the current step 3 and 4 divisions will be relegated at the end of season 2017-18. This could impact Didcot Town, Kidlington, North Leigh, Thame United and Banbury United.
